We had couple obstacles when we started off. One of them was that one of our group members was flying out, so couldn't be present for two days of the project. Sometimes the assignment wasn't that clear and we were not sure what needs to be done. Other than that, our communication was smooth and overall our group worked pretty well together.

Design sketches

We all had pretty similar ideas. We just shifted and played around with the layout and design.

Decision

Our final design sketch of our solution.

Reviews

Interview 1

student MMD 1st semester 25 years old
fronter uses every 2 days or when in school
prototype:
- to see already created groups
- to see not only new messages but also old chats
- process is pretty obvious, straightforward

Interview 3

student MMD 1st semester
23 years old
fronter uses every day usually in the evening uses it for uploading docs, find teaching material what would she like to use it for? chat, teaching mat., upload docs
 prototype:
- homepage messages is nice and clear,
- create a new message is complicated -> use it on the message window
- create a group chat - highlight it, make it more visible
- homepage is too raw, use some colors and highlights

Interview 2

student MMD 1st semester
43 years old
fronter uses every day
 prototype:
- contact page not clear
- alphabetical order for contacts
-add access list from messages

Summary

We will make some adjustments for the homepage, to differentiate parts from each other. We will add a possibility to create new message right from the window with new messages. We will also add recent and old messages to that window. We will make the contact list in alphabetical order and we are also planning on highlighting certain buttons so it would be easier to navigate.
